ABOUT HARAMBE

Harambe Is Swahili for “pulling together in unity.”

A statewide 501c3 non-profit agency based in South Jersey, Harambe's services are developed and adapted from the African principles and teachings of Nguba Saba to address domestic and sexual violence. Visit harambesocialservices.org to learn more about how these principles support and sustain the people, the construction and conduct of their lives, and how that relates to our work. In partnership with underserved LGBTQIA+ communities of color, Harambe prioritizes: raising awareness, creating alliances, and providing vital services for survivors of abuse.

WARNING SIGNS (to learn more signs, visit harambesocialservices.org)

- ✓ Isolation from family, friends, and community
- ✓ Threatening to “out” partner/threats of violence
- ✓ Intimidation, ridiculing, harassment, sexual coercion

LGBTQIA+ Risk Factors + Prevalence

Often overlooked, the LGBTQIA+ community frequently experiences higher incidences of domestic and sexual violence. Recent studies reveal that lesbian and gay individuals report a higher prevalence of abuse, including rape, physical violence, and/or stalking by an intimate partner compared to heterosexuals. People who are transgender experience disproportionate rates of violence and homicide, particularly transgender people of color. Harambe's team understands the troubling dynamics of abuse experienced by this community, as well as unique barriers to service, the laws protecting marginalized groups, and is well equipped to help provide safe and healing spaces and support.
